

ENOMW GENERAL ASSEMBLY 2019

24-26 MAY, LIBSON

WOMEN: REVOLUTION AND RESISTANCE

WELCOME-PACK

WELCOME FROM ENOMW

In June 2018 our members met in Rabat, Morocco for the three days of intense exchange, training and fun. This year we are meeting in Lisbon, Portugal, hosted by the Portuguese High Commission for Migration and supported by our local partners and members. We expect this Assembly to be similarly rich and productive. Among the major tasks of the Assembly is the amendment of our Statutes and the election of the new Board. We will discuss two structural changes: replacement of one President with two Co-Presidents in the Board and the establishment of the Young Women Council, as an advisory body to the Board and other structures. We will also have a number of workshops, delivered by our members and guest speakers that were designed to facilitate internal skill-transfer among members and reinforce our individual and collective political analysis and advocacy. We hope that everyone joining us for this year's Assembly will leave Lisbon re-energised, strengthened in their work for the rights of migrant women and in our collective vision of a global feminist revolution !

SPECIAL THANKS

We would like to thank everyone at Alto Comissariado para as Migrações (ACM), Plataforma Portuguesa para os Direitos da Mulher, Mulheres Sem Fronteiras, Casa do Brasil de Lisboa as well as all the individual women in Portugal and within the Network who stepped up to make our General Assembly 2019 possible.

Brussels Team: In the days before the AGM Many of you have communicated with the Network's Brussels Office's Team, Sinem Yilmaz (Brussels Officer) and Adriana Stiago (#RadicalGirlss), who worked very hard to prepare this Assembly. We are grateful for their continued presence, representation and support and are looking forward to the members meeting them in person in Lisbon !

The Portuguese High Commission for Migration, hosting our AGM, is a public institute that, under the direct supervision of the Presidency of the Council of Ministers, is responsible for collaborating in the definition, implementation and evaluation of public policies regarding the attraction of migrants, the integration of immigrants and Roma communities, and the management and enhancement of the diversity of cultures, ethnicities and religions through the promotion of intercultural and interreligious dialogue. www.acm.gov.pt

Portuguese Platform for Women's Rights, supporting our AGM, is a social, cultural and humanist non-governmental organisation, independent from political parties, religious institutions or governmental structures, whose members are women's rights NGOs. Its main objective is to foster cooperation for collective reflection and action in the promotion of women's rights through such means as research, lobbying, dissemination of information, awareness-raising and training. <https://plataformamulheres.org.pt>

Mulheres sem Fronteiras is a feminism organization involved in promoting human rights of girls and women and combating gender-based violence. They execute community based projects in the great Lisbon area, working mainly with girls and young women of African descent, Roma & refugees. They also organise feminist memory walks. www.facebook.com/pg/mulheressemfronteiras

Casa do Brasil of Lisbon, one of the founding members of the Network, is an association that promotes diversity and Brazilian culture in Portugal, providing cultural, political, social and legal support to its members and immigrants in general. Among its activities of various cultural and educational classes, lectures and debates, exhibitions, workshops and film screenings. <https://www.facebook.com/pg/casadobrasildelisboa>

HOMEWORK FOR ALL PARTICIPANTS: WHO IS YOUR REVOLUTIONARY WOMAN ?

We ask every member attending the AGM to bring with you a printed portrait and a short description of a revolutionary woman that inspires you. (alternatively you can send it to agm@migrantwomennetwork.org).

She can be from your country of origin, the country where you live, from the past or the present. This revolutionary woman can even be a fictional character.

RULES & PRINCIPLES AT AGM:

COMMUNICATION:

- o We communicate with each other, at all times, in a sisterly way. In the network, we have roles and responsibilities, but we have no hierarchies. We encourage active communication, critical discussions, personal friendship and informal connections among our members
- o Disagreements are resolved in a civil and timely manner, never compromising the well-being of the Network
- o Our members come from different backgrounds; it is important to remember it when we speak to each other
- o Last but not least: we are here together and we need to support each other

SPACE SHARING:

- o Convenience: It is advisable to bring everything you need to make your accommodation as convenient as possible
- o Cleaning: Keep the space safe and clean for the others and yourself
- o We are here together, so try to engage with all participants. You can learn from everybody

TIMING:

- o We have an intense schedule and we will be monitoring time strictly (especially in the morning !)
- o Start-times are documented in the agenda; please try to be always on time
- o Respect other women when they speak and give them the room they need
- o If you are the speaker, time your contribution well and leave space to others to respond

Maria Antónia Palla: She is a feminist journalist, one of the first women journalists in Portugal. As a journalist and citizen of the resistance against fascism, she was witness to some of the most important moments in the history of Portugal, she always fought for women's rights and freedom of expression and gave voice to those who didn't have it. She has always exercised the capacity of criticism with commendable independence.

WOMEN IN PORTUGAL'S REVOLUTION

Portugal, a small country of just over 10 million people, had one of the longest dictatorships in Europe during the first half of the XX century. Prior to 1974, women in Portugal were restricted by the Penal Code and had little organizational power. Women's groups were formed within the Catholic Church to teach women about cooking, child care, and home economics. There was no contact with international women's groups. The press only reported events such as "bra burning", which was the equivalent of "fake news" of today. 80% of all illiterates in Portugal were women. After the dictatorship fell in 1974, women received legal equality with Portuguese men including the right to vote and full equality in marriage. A generation later, many women were making full use of their new status. Present roles are discussed for work, health, education, religion, trade unions and political parties, and women's organizations.

There have been so many unsung heroes, women who contributed to World War I efforts, to the 1974 revolution efforts and to so many other defining moments in history, without ever having been acknowledged. We also celebrate and commend all the anonymous women who every single day give so much of themselves for others, often at a cost to their own health and well-being.

The Three Marys - Maria Teresa Horta, Maria Velho da Costa and Maria Isabel Barreno - were accused of writing a pornographic book and of being detrimental to public morality. Their book 'New Portuguese Letters' denounces the colonial war, the judicial system, the violence, women situation, the feminization of poverty, the absence of freedom, the colonization of the political body and immigration.

Sara Amâncio: As a citizen of the anti-fascist Resistance, she stood out, from a very young age, in the struggle against the regime and for freedom. She was tried in Plenary Court, persecuted and, prevented from teaching, was forced to go abroad. She is a full-fledged woman who has maintained civic and political activity, in parallel with her teaching, dedicating much of her time to the construction of democracy and the causes of the memory of the dictatorship.

PIERRETTE PAPE || STRATEGIC DISCUSSION 1 || NORDIC LAW ON PROSTITUTION, REVOLUTIONARY MODEL ON SEXUAL EXPLOITATION

PIERRETTE PAPE is the chair of isala asbl, working on the ground to support persons in prostitution in Belgium and the founder & coordinator of the abolitionist Youth Network Generation Abolition. She worked for the last year for the Mukwege Foundation where she led the advocacy strategy to end rape and sexual violence in war and post-conflict times and coordinated two global retreats gathering more than 50 members of SEMA, the Global Network of Victims and Survivors to End Wartime Rape. Previously, she worked for more than 8 years at the European Women's Lobby on policy and campaigns, where she coordinated several impactful projects and advocacy strategies, in particular on ending sexual exploitation and violence against women and girls. She initiated and led the EWL campaign 'Together for a Europe free from prostitution', coordinating the advocacy strategy towards a historic European Parliament resolution, and animating the international NGO coalition The Brussels' Call.

In her workshop, together with Noura Raad, Pierrette will share the analysis, history and the current developments on the groundbreaking model on sexual exploitation of girls and women, known as the Nordic or Equality Model. We will also discuss a collective strategy of the Network to strengthen and promote our position on the system of prostitution.

NOURA RAAD || STRATEGIC DISCUSSION 2 || SEX, GENDER AND SEX BASED RIGHTS OF WOMEN

NOURA RAAD is a Board Member of ENOMW. Born in Lebanon, Noura is a legal expert based in France and holds a PHD on the status of women in comparative Criminal Law at the Faculty of Law of Aix-Marseille. She is currently working at Movement du Nid, a France-wide association supporting the women in, at risk of and exiting prostitution. Noura is the president of Aix-en-Provence section of Forum Femmes Méditerranée, focusing on the flaws in the law leading to discrimination against women in the Euro-Mediterranean countries. As a militant feminist she engages in the legal advocacy for the women victims of violence. Noura joined the ENOMW in 2017 and works on the legal analysis to promote the rights of migrant women. She's also the convener of ENOMW's Membership Group and a member of #RadicalGirlss, the Young Women's Movement of ENOMW.

In this workshop, together with ENOMW's Strategy & Policy Coordinator Anna Zobnina, Noura will present the feminist analysis of the key terms and concepts on women's rights and the legal frameworks that underpin them at the international and national level. Together we will discuss the threats towards the sex-based rights of women that emerged in the last two decades internationally and in selected EU states.

ANA SOFIA FERNANDES || GUEST WORKSHOP || EU ARCHITECTURE ON RIGHTS, DISCRIMINATION & EQUALITY

ANA SOFIA FERNANDES is the Vice President of the European Women's Lobby, President of the Portuguese Platform for Women's Rights and Advisor at the Portuguese Economic and Social Council. Between 2010 and 2015 she worked at the European Institute for Gender Equality as Stakeholders' Coordinator and Resource & Documentation Centre Officer. In 2000 she co-founded and was the first President of the Portuguese Network of Young People for Gender Equality. Certified gender equality trainer, she held positions as member of the consultative council of the Commission for Equality and Women's Rights, President of the Portuguese Platform for Women's Rights, member of the General Assembly of the European Women's Lobby and member of the Board of the Association of Women from Meridional Europe.

In her workshop Ana Sofia will explain the history of the EU legal system from a women's rights perspective. She will introduce our members to the main EU's principles and structures concerning the rights, discrimination and equality, placing those in the context of the human rights of women and the feminist analysis. We will also discuss how migrant women organisations can interact with those structures and systems.

LINDA BELLOS || GUEST WORKSHOP || WOMEN'S LIBERATION MOVEMENT, Roots, History, Role of Migrant & Minority Women

LINDA BELLOS was born in London in 1950 and has been proud of her African and Jewish heritage since her early years. She has been a political activist for almost all of her life with a developing understanding of the structural roots of power and oppression. She is looking forward to her 70th birthday next year and hopes that she will have finally finished her memoirs and they are published by then. She refuses to adopt the term 'black and Asian' a term used in Britain and insists that there is not a place called 'black' and if there were it would be spelt with a capital. She is looking forward to the ENOMW Assembly so that sisters can exchange experiences and develop a World-wide sisterhood.

In her workshop Linda Bellos will focus on the importance of global feminist sisterhood, in the wake of old and new patriarchal, anti-women, anti-migrants and anti-minorities forces; on the history and role of ethnic minority women in the women's liberation movement and the way we can engage in, revive and sustain this movement across borders and differences.

DALIA LEINARTE || GUEST WORKSHOP || UN & CEDAW ARCHITECTURE

Prof. Dalia Leinarte is a current Chair of CEDAW's Sub-Committee on Trafficking and a former Chair of the CEDAW Committee and aShe is a firm believer of the implementation of gender equality policies for the benefit of all women, she has been providing support for abused women for over 20 years now, drawing attention to the problem of sexual violence against women in post-Soviet society. Founder of the women NGO "Praeities Pedos" (Traces of the Past), it was amongst the first in Lithuania to introduce into public discourse the concept of "women victims of trafficking", since up until then all the women and girls who suffered this form of sexual abuse were viewed as prostitutes. In her country Prof. Leinarte is a recognized gender equality expert and defender of women's rights being nominated in 2012 by the Lithuanian government as candidate for the Committee on the Elimination of Discrimination against Women, UN (CEDAW), for which she was elected. She also drafted the Review of the Implementation of the Beijing Declaration and Platform for Action Adopted, at the Fourth World Conference on Women Beijing 1995 2004.

In her workshop Prof. Leinarte will explain about the history and the structure of the United Nations CEDAW Committee, the process of CEDAW's Consultation with Civil Society and other stakeholders, how this process is related to other UN agencies and bodies and how migrant women organisations can most effectively engage with such bodies and processes.

NATALIE GERBERT || MEMBERS WORKSHOP 1 || BUILDING A MIGRANT WOMEN PLATFORM: Comprehensive Services for Migrant Women (experience from Finland).

Born in Estonia and living in Finland, Natalie is one of the co-founders of the Monika Intercultural Women's Association, a platform of 17 migrant women organisations, based in Helsinki. Since 2010 Natalie has been the director of the Monika's Crisis Centre that provides comprehensive services, including nation-wide help-line, shelter and assisted living accommodation, rehabilitation and integration services to the female migrant victims of domestic violence and trafficking. Natalie is an expert on the integration process of migrant women and families having worked in city of Helsinki and NGO sector, with a broad knowledge on Violence against Migrant women, including domestic violence, THB and honour based violence.

In her workshop Natalie will share the 20 year history and main stages of development of Monika Association, outlining the main obstacles the organisation encountered at political and organisational levels, the strategies for dealing with them and factors that can contribute to successful growth and sustainability of a platform serving the interests of a wide group of migrant women.

LUCY POLO || MEMBERS WORKSHOP 2 || BUILDING A REGIONAL COALITION (experience from Spain)

Born in Colombia, Lucy has a degree in Psychology with a specialty in Child Psychology from the Universidad del Norte in Barranquilla (Colombia) and a Diploma in Immigration and Law from the University of Valencia. She is founder of the Por Ti Mujer Association, where she combines the presidency with prevention, attention and intervention works with immigrant women from the Valencian Community. She is also Coordinator of the School of Empowerment of the entity. Lucy is currently President of the Support Network for Immigrant Women Victim of Gender Violence (Red AMINVI) and Vice President of the Network of Latin American and Caribbean Women in Spain. She is also founder of the CEDAW Sombra País Valencià Platform, member of PICUM and on the board of ENoMW.

Lucy's workshop will cover the history, strategies and successful examples, in the context of the Valencian region, Spain, on the coalition building to support the rights and freedoms of migrant and refugee women

SODFA DAAJI || MEMBERS WORKSHOP 3 || WOMEN TAKING SPACE: UNLOCKING OUR VOICE

SODFA DAAJI is a 25 y.o. Tunisian-Italian abolitionist feminist activist, working across Europe and Africa. In the Network she is leading the activities on capacity building and self-organising of young women and girls, including the Network's recently established initiative #RadicalGirlss. Besides her role in ENOMW, Sodfa is the Co-Chair of Afrika Youth Movement (AYM), the largest Pan-African Youth-led grassroots movement, and a founder of an Italian NGO "Without Filter".

Women around the world are mobilizing and organizing in different forms of resilience, while claiming their rights and space. The aim of this workshop is to strengthen the importance in standing in solidarity, while taking - literally - the space through a protest, which aims to unlock our voices and claims. We are going to do so, in the street, where women feel unsafe, and at the same time where women lead successful protests and revolutions. From Sudan to Colombia, women are in the Frontline claiming their rights without fear.

SADDIE CHOUA || FUNDAMENTALISM & NEO-LIBERALISM: FILM IN PROGRESS || DISCUSSION WITH MEMBERS

Saddie Choua is a Belgian-Moroccan filmmaker, writer and mixed-media visual artist, based in Belgium. A sociologist by education, she expanded her political critique of inequalities into the art and media domain, bridging art with her academic experience through political art of documentary, video installations, mixed media collage and short stories. In her art work she calls out for a critical viewer and puts in the spotlight the racial/ethnic discrimination, discrimination against women, colonialism, class as well as her cats. The challenge is to create 'situations' which reveal the power structures behind the images we internalize and reproduce. She asks us to think about how we consume images and dialogues about the other and how they influence our self-image and our historical consciousness: "I like to integrate elements of my own life. An important biographical issue is my immigrant background. This origin is a confusing issue for me. Even if I try to escape, some patterns bring me back to the isolated place of the immigrant-artist. I decided to integrate this complex struggle in my practice."

In her workshop Saddie will discuss the film-in-progresses (working title "Fundamentalism and Neo-Liberalism"). The video is a part of a bigger project undertaken by ENoMW, sponsored by the Coppieters Foundation, on the current backlash against women's and migrant's rights in Europe, and is based on a series of interviews with experts and activists following the Conference ENoMW organised in 2018 in the European Parliament.

SALOME MBUGUA || AFRICA DAY || WOMEN OF AFRICAN DESCENT

SALOME MBUGUA is the President of ENOMW, a native of Kenya and living in Ireland. Salome has over 20 years experience of work with women, children and youth in Africa and Ireland. She is the founder of AkiDwA, the Migrant Women's Network Ireland and Wezesha, an African Diaspora NGO working with women and children affected by violence and conflict in Africa. Salome is the former vice chair of the National Women Council of Ireland and currently serves as an Irish Commissioner for Human Rights. She joined ENOMW board in 2014.

25 MAY, AFRICA DAY (formerly African Liberation Day) commemorates the foundation of Organisation of African Unity (now the African Union). In this Workshop, together with Linda Bellos, Salome will discuss the history and significance of this event, the role of women in the struggle for justice of people of African descent, the international commitments and the role of civil society in Europe in supporting our sisters in the African continent.

#RADICALGIRLSSS: YOUNG WOMEN'S MOVEMENT OF ENOMW

We want to live in a society where Girls are treated with dignity and respect. Where they have space, resources and power to grow into autonomous, liberated and responsible members of society. Our Network's mission is to create such space within our own structures and, by doing so, to extend our vision to other organisations and movements.

#RadicalGirlsss is a newly established multi-ethnic sexual abolitionist movement of Young Women and Girls, within the European Network of Migrant Women. The group is comprised of the young women (20-30 y.o.) and girls (13 -19 y.o.) members of ENOMW's member organisations as well as our individual supporting members.

At the Assembly the founding members of the #RadicalGirlsss will present to the Network their vision, mission, manifesto and a programme of action. They will discuss the needs, concerns and demands of the young women, the role ENOMW's members and partners can play in supporting their self organising and the expertise and ideas the young women are eager to share with our members.

RISE UP AGAINST OPPRESSION || ENOMW'S POSTER EXHIBITION IN PORTUGAL

#RiseUpAgainstOppression,

A public campaign assembled by ENOMW in 2018, available in English, French, Spanish, Portuguese, Arabic and Russian, is a collection of 35 posters, representing the diverse voices of women, including many of our members, activists, scholars, politicians, and the sex trade survivors, concerned with the problem of sexual exploitation of women. It explores the male control of female bodies at the intersections with capitalism, colonialism, poverty, racism, migration, sexuality as well as the moral questions of "choice", "freedom", "rights".

The idea of this collection is to position the debate on prostitution within a wider framework on human rights and let the viewer reflect on multiple ways in which patriarchal violence against women is interlinked with other forms of systemic inequalities.

The Portuguese collection of the posters, produced by the Portuguese Platform for Women's Rights, is currently on tour in Portugal with its exhibition launched at the High Commission for Migration on 20 May 2019.
